Report of the Executive Council

OF

THE NATIONAL INSTITUTE FOR THE BLIND

for the Year ending 31st March, 1915.

(The Accounts are for the year ending 31st December, 1914.)

THE Council have pleasure in submitting to the members, subscribers and friends of the Institute their record of another year's work for the blind.

New Premises. A full description of the formal opening of the new building by His Majesty the King, accompanied by Her Majesty the Queen on 19th March, 1914, was given in the Council's last report. That auspicious event marked the commencement of the President's campaign for raising funds and drawing public attention to the pressing needs of the blind, which is unprecedented in the history of the blind.

Until the outbreak of the war, which temporarily stopped the campaign, Mr. Pearson laboured strenuously and incessantly with the result that by the close of the year a net sum of nearly £60,000 had been raised to complete and fully equip the new building and to carry on the work aimed at, especially that of amplifying and cheapening literature for the blind. What is still more gratifying, an interest in the blind was created which the Council believe will be maintained and extended. Contributions were received from Their Majesties the King and Queen and Queen Alexandra, and from all classes of his Majesty's subjects in the Empire. Gifts ranged in value from £2,000 down to the smallest coin.

Mr. Pearson received great sympathy and widespread assistance from the Press, without which it would have been impossible to reach the masses. In a number of instances the cause of the Institute was promoted by illustrations, notably by Punch and The Bystander, reproductions of which have been incorporated in this report. For this kind co-operation the Council are most grateful. It is the great pleasure and privilege of the Council to place on record their warm appreciation of Mr. Pearson's successful effort to bring the claims of the blind before the public. To have enlisted sympathy and help in every quarter of the globe and to have raised such a handsome sum in a few months was a feat beyond all praise and one which few, very few, would have had the courage to undertake. It was given only to those who worked with the President day by day to realize with what ability, resourcefulness, persistent effort and fixed determination he laboured early and late to stir up interest in the cause he had so much at heart.

To the vast throng of sympathisers who responded to Mr. Pearson's call for help, from His gracious Majesty the King to his poorest subject, the Council owe a deep debt of gratitude which they are utterly unable to express in words. They feel, however, that the great work of uplifting the blind which the Institute is destined to accomplish will be to them a full reward for the sympathy and help they have extended to it.

The Bolsover Street elevation of the new building was originally designed to consist of seven storeys and an attic, but the builder's contracts only provided for five storeys as the Council felt when the contracts were made that the remaining two storeys and an attic might be dispensed with until there was a pressing need for them and funds were available. The generous response, however, to Mr. Pearson's appeal and the rapid development of the Institute's work made it desirable to carry out the building as originally designed, and this has been done. In consequence of this enlargement of the building and the difficulties experienced by the contractors in getting supplies of materials owing to the war it has not been possible to occupy the new building until early in April, 1915.

THE INESTIMABLE GIFT OF SIGHT.

Publishing Department.

The publication of books in embossed type for the use of the blind has always formed one of the chief features of the Institute's work, and in the future will be extensively increased. The work has been carried on under difficult conditions in the old buildings during the past year; nevertheless steady progress has been made. The embossing plant has been greatly improved and increased so that under the better conditions in the new buildings the output both of book-plates and books will be not less than five times greater than ever before. The number of two-page book plates produced annually has been hitherto about 6,000, but during the first twelve months of occupation of the new premises the Institute is committed to the production of 30,000, irrespective of the usual large output of embossed periodicals and music, and urgent work which must be dealt with.

The fast-running hot-embossing presses will be capable of an output of 24,000 pages per hour.

The Council have been greatly encouraged in their determined effort to provide the blind with plenty of good books by the help of the Committee of the Carnegie

United Kingdom Trust, who have most generously undertaken to meet the cost of the book plates of 28 standard works by 26 authors, forming 150 Braille volumes, and have also ordered 30 copies of each work (4,500 volumes in all) to be delivered to the National Lending Library for the Blind to which they are being presented by the Trust. The total cost to the Carnegie Trust will be approximately £2,280.

The foregoing remarks apply to books in the Braille type only and have no reference to the production of books in Moon type, which will be dealt with later in this report.

The number of Braille books, magazines, newspapers, music, etc., produced during 1914 was as follows :—

Volumes....	8,161
Magazines	33,236
Newspapers	82,886
Pamphlets, Music, etc.	17,031
TOTAL	141,514
Letterpress Magazines, Pamphlets, etc.	89,976

During the year under review, two-page book plates to the number of 7,536 were produced by the Institute's blind stereotypers.

The books published during 1914 are fewer than usual, although the number of book plates produced shows a substantial increase. This is due to the straitened conditions in the binding department and will be rectified now that greater facilities for binding are provided.

A list of publications appears as an appendix to this report, but it is interesting to record here that among them are a number of topical works incidental to the war. These include "Why we are at war," "The Germans, their Empire; how they made it," "The Germans, what they covet," "A form of Intercession on behalf of His Majesty's forces," "Maps of the theatres of the war," "Comforts for Soldiers," "Comforts for Sailors," and "The National Anthems of the Allies." "Princess Mary's Gift Book" has been published in Braille since the close of 1914, and a handsomely bound copy was presented to Her Royal Highness Princess Mary, who caused the following letter to be sent to the President of the Institute :—

Buckingham Place,
19th February, 1915.

"Dear Mr. Pearson,—Princess Mary has received the copy of her 'Gift Book' put into Braille, which the Council of The National Institute for the Blind has been good enough to send for her acceptance.

While Her Royal Highness very much appreciates the kindly thought which has prompted this charming gift, she feels sure that the Council will agree with her that the book would prove a valuable addition to the Library of the Institute, and Princess Mary therefore desires me to ask if she may be allowed to present this beautifully bound copy for that purpose.

Her Royal Highness sincerely trusts that the fact that her 'Gift Book' has been published in Braille may be appreciated by blind people.

Yours sincerely,
(Signed) E. W. WALLINGTON."

Braille Codes. A considerable amount of time and close study have been devoted to the question of Braille codes suitable for the Hebrew, Greek and Welsh languages. In this connection signal service has been rendered by the Rev. H. McNeile, M.A., in preparing one code for Hebrew and the Rev. Canon Rendell and the Rev. C. F. Waudby, B.A., in formulating another. The merits of both will be carefully tested with a view to the adoption of one of them. The Greek code which has been in use by The National Institute for many years has been reviewed and critically tested by Mr. R. D. Hicks, M.A., Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge, with the result that it has been finally approved. The urgency of a code for the Welsh language has led to the appointment by the Council of a Committee of Welsh scholars consisting of Miss A. E. Roberts, the Rev. J. Puleston-Jones, Mr. H. Jones, Mr. David S. Rees and Mr. Hector Rees. It is expected that the report of this Committee will be issued shortly.

Braille Music Notation.

A Committee of highly qualified musicians, mostly blind, has been engaged in the endeavour to improve the Braille Music notation and make it uniform throughout the world. Two important conferences have been held at the offices of The National Institute for the Blind, but the outbreak of the war has necessarily caused a temporary cessation of the Committee's work.

Braille Examiners.

The Council much regret that Mr. A. Henry has, under medical advice, been compelled to relinquish the office of Examiner for the Institute's Braille Certificate and they desire to place on record their high appreciation of the skill and care with which he has conducted the examination for 14 years. Messrs. W. Percy Merrick and F. H. Merrick have kindly undertaken the work as Joint Examiners.

Maps.

The production of cheap and effective embossed maps has received close attention and many experiments have been made. Thanks to the skill and efforts of the Chairman of the Book Committee, Mr. H. M. Taylor,

F.R.S., a series of excellent maps of the war zone have been prepared and these with a full index are sold at the nominal price of one penny each.

Uniform Type. As mentioned in the last Report, a movement has been set on foot in America to bring about a uniformity in the point systems used by the blind. In order that the findings of our American friends should be carefully investigated in the United Kingdom, the Council has formed a British Uniform Type Committee which consists of the following experts:—Mr. C. Arthur Pearson, Chairman, Miss E. W. Austin, Miss Laura Douglas-Hamilton, Miss H. C. Russell, Mr. W. H. Illingworth, Mr. W. Percy Merrick, Dr. A. W. G. Ranger, Mr. W. M. Stone, and Mr. H. M. Taylor, together with representatives from the College of Teachers of the Blind and the Association of Teachers of the Blind. Mr. Henry Stainsby will act as Secretary.

The Armitage Blind Writers Fund. For many years Miss Alice S. Armitage, a member of the Council and daughter of the founder of the Institute, has subscribed £100 annually to assist in providing work for a number of blind writers. In order that this subscription should be secured to the Institute in perpetuity, Miss Armitage has placed with the Cloth-workers Company a capital sum which will produce interest equivalent to her subscription. The Council desire to record their warmest thanks to Miss Armitage for her generous help, and to the Clothworkers Company for taking custody of the capital sum.

Leeds Embossed Books Fund. Included in the amount raised by the President for Building and Endowment purposes is £1,283 14*s.* 8*d.*, which sum was contributed by the inhabitants of Leeds and district to form an endowment by which the blind of Leeds may be permanently supplied with books. The Worshipful Company of Clothworkers have kindly undertaken to be the custodians of this Fund and will pay over to the Institute the interest accruing, in order that it may be expended annually in the manner directed. The Council cordially commend other cities and towns to follow the course adopted by Leeds.

The Moon Society for the Blind, Brighton. This Society was founded by the late Dr. William Moon in 1847 for embossing books for the blind in the type which he invented and which bears his name. This type resembles in many respects the form of the Roman characters used by the sighted and is therefore suited to those who have become blind late in life. After the death of Dr Moon, in 1894, the work was carried on and extended by his daughter, Miss Adelaide E. C. Moon, who gave her life to it with great skill and devotion. In the summer of 1914 negotiations were in progress between Miss Moon and The National Institute for the Blind whereby the Moon Society should become a branch of The National Institute. In consequence of the outbreak of the war, these negotiations were suspended, but upon the lamented death of Miss Moon in November, 1914, the Council of the Institute felt it incumbent upon them to see that the good work of the Moon Society did not suffer, and accordingly re-opened negotiations with the surviving Trustee of the Moon Society, Mr. Gerald Loder, M.P. The result was that new Trustees were appointed, viz., The National Institute for the Blind, Mr. C. Arthur Pearson, Dr. A. W. G. Ranger, and the Rev. Hugh Shearer. The new Trustees then assigned the management of the Moon Society to The National Institute and this was accepted by the Council of the Institute.

The production of books in the Moon type will be carried on as before at Brighton, but the business of the Society will be conducted from the offices of The National Institute. The Moon Society will henceforth be known as the Moon Society Branch of The National Institute for the Blind, but its funds will be kept separate and all subscriptions, donations and legacies given to it will be used for promoting its work alone. The Council earnestly hope that its supporters will contribute generously to its funds so that the great work of the Society may not suffer by the death of Miss Moon.

That portion of the Moon premises at Brighton which was occupied by Miss Moon as her residence being now available, the Council have decided to use it as a Home of Rest for the Blind. During the War it will be placed at the disposal of the Blinded Soldiers and Sailors Care Committee to be used as a Convalescent resort for men after their discharge from hospital and as a place of change and rest for the inmates of the Blinded Soldiers' and Sailors' Hostel.

The Home Teaching Society. This has recently been affiliated to the National Institute and has become one of its branches. It will be housed in the Institute's new premises and will be provided with free office accommodation, together with a whole floor in the factory block for its library of embossed books. It will continue to be managed by its own Committee, upon which the Institute will be well represented. Miss Edith M. Bainbrigge has been elected to represent the Home Teaching Society on the Council of the National Institute.

As its name implies, the work of the Home Teaching Society is to seek out, teach and systematically visit and assist the blind living in their own homes. Many of these are poor and aged, while others suffer from combined afflictions such as deafness and blindness. The visiting is carried on by a band of blind teachers in the employ of the Society.

It is confidently hoped that the affiliation of this Society to the National Institute will be conducive to the common good of the blind.

The Council of the Institute bespeak the sympathy and support of the philanthropic public for the far-reaching and important work of this Society.

Massage Institution.

Arrangements are now complete whereby the National Institution for Massage by the Blind passes under the management of the National Institute and becomes a branch of its work. Massage is one of the few occupations in which the blind can stand on an equal footing with the sighted; and no pains will be spared to train successfully suitable blind persons of both sexes, and then place them in the way of earning a good living by it. The training will be carried on in the Institute by a highly efficient staff, provided with the best apparatus, while the examination and certification of students will be conducted by the Incorporated Society of Trained Masseuses.

The present is a peculiarly fitting time to promote the training of the blind in massage, as many soldiers and sailors wounded in the war require treatment. Moreover a number of men who have been blinded in the war are found to be suitable for training as operators.

Mr. John Tennant, who was Chairman of the National Institution for Massage by the Blind, has joined the Council of the Institute. To that Society especially to their late Hon. Secretary Mrs. McNicol much praise is due for having so successfully promoted massage as a refined and remunerative occupation for the blind.

Blinded Soldiers and Sailors.

Immediately war broke out the Council decided to do all within their power to assist men who might lose their sight while on service for their King and country. As a result they have, through the efforts of their President, and in conjunction with the British Red Cross Society and the Order of St. John of Jerusalem in England, established and are maintaining a Blinded Soldiers' and Sailors' Hostel. This Hostel is St. Dunstan's, Regent's Park, a magnificent house (standing in 15 acres of ground) kindly lent by Mr. Otto Kahn. A substantial grant has been made from the National Relief Fund so that the Blinded Soldiers' and Sailors' Care Committee, who manage the Hostel, should have little anxiety in providing for the After Care of these brave men after their discharge from the Hostel. All blinded soldiers and sailors will receive pensions from his Majesty's Government but this must not form an inducement to them to live purposeless lives. Given a good training, blinded soldiers and sailors may become useful citizens. To this end the Blinded Soldiers' and Sailors' Care Committee have already commenced to train the men in one or more of the following occupations according to their ability and taste:—massage, telephony, poultry rearing, market gardening, carpentry, boot repairing, mat making and basket making. Instruction is also being given in Braille reading and writing, typewriting, games, etc.

As mentioned in another part of this Report, the Council of the National Institute for the Blind has placed its seaside Home at Brighton at the service of the Blinded Soldiers' and Sailors' Care Committee.

Mr. C. Arthur Pearson, the President of The National Institute for the Blind, is chairman of the Blinded Soldiers' and Sailors' Care Committee, and to him the fullest praise is due for the time, energy and skill which he has bestowed on the work. The other members of the Committee are Miss E. W. Austin, Secretary of the Incorporated National Lending Library for the Blind, the Hon. Arthur Stanley, Chairman of the British Red Cross Society and Order of St. John of Jerusalem in England; Dr. A. W. G. Ranger, Chairman of The National Institute for the Blind; Mr. P. Tindal Robertson, a member of the British Red Cross organisation and of the Council of the National Lending Library for the Blind; and Mr. H. Stainsby, Secretary-General of The National Institute for the Blind.

A large and influential Advisory Council consisting of experts in matters pertaining to the blind has also been formed and their assistance will be sought when necessary. Their Majesties, The King and Queen, Her Majesty Queen Alexandra, and His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales evinced great interest in this project and have visited the hostel.

Relief of the Blind.

The outbreak of war caused widespread distress among the scattered blind, that is, those who live and work apart from workshops for the blind. The blind tea vendor, street hawker and street musician, together with those following the higher avocations of the blind, such as the teacher of music and the pianoforte tuner, were seriously affected. Under normal conditions they can hardly hold their own, and it is little wonder that when the conditions of life were altered by the war many were brought to want. To relieve this the Council have employed an increasing number of blind collectors, and all money received by them is used to relieve distress and to pay the wages of the blind collectors. In this way some 350 blind persons have been assisted weekly. This assistance will continue as long as the war lasts.

In order that the local Committees of the National Relief Fund should also be able to obtain the best advice when cases of distress among the blind are brought before them, a list of persons well qualified to give such advice has been furnished to the Central Committee.

Reduced Postage.

Through the kind influence of the President, the Postmaster-General has made a substantial reduction on the inland postage of embossed books for which the Council desire to record their warmest thanks. The value of this concession by the Postmaster-General will be appreciated by a comparison of the old and new scales as given below:—

Old Scale.	New Scale.
Not exceeding 2 ozs..... ½d.	Not exceeding 2 ozs..... ½d.
Not exceeding 2 lbs..... 1d.
Not exceeding 5 lbs.....1½d.	Not exceeding 5 lbs.....1d.
Not exceeding 6 lbs.....2½d.	Not exceeding 6 lbs.....2d.

Travelling Concessions to the Blind.

Through the kind offices of the President, arrangements had been made whereby necessitous blind persons would be allowed to travel free on most of the London Electric Railways and the 'buses of the London General Omnibus Company, provided they were accompanied by a guide who would be required to pay ordinary fare. Sir Albert Stanley, Managing Director of the London Electric Railways, was desirous that all applications for free passes should pass through The National Institute for the Blind and full arrangements for carrying out his wishes were completed, when in consequence of the Metropolitan District Railway being taken over by H.M. Government the concession had to be temporarily withdrawn. The Council nevertheless desire to express their grateful thanks to the Directors of the London Electric Railways for their kind interest in the blind.

Honorary Appointments. In grateful recognition of the distinguished service rendered to the Institute and to the cause of the blind by Mr. C. Arthur Pearson, the Council unanimously appointed him President of the Institute—the highest honour it is in their power to bestow.

They have also appointed Sir T. Vansittart Bowater, the late Lord Mayor of London, Sir William Soulsby and Sir William Robertson Nicoll, Vice-Presidents of the Institute. These rendered signal service in connection with Mr. Pearson's campaign—Sir T. Vansittart Bowater and Sir William Soulsby in organising the Mansion House Fund, and Sir William Robertson Nicoll in raising £2,134 through the British Weekly, of which he is editor.

Mr. Kenneth Bilbrough, who personally collected £557 17*s.* 0*d.*, has been made an Honorary Life Member of the Institute.

Chaplain. In April, 1914, the Rev. H. J. R. Marston, M.A., late Fellow of Durham University, was licensed to the Chaplaincy of the Institute by the Bishop of London and forthwith commenced to advocate the claims of the Institute in pulpits and on platforms throughout the country. Mr. Marston, who is blind, is a distinguished scholar and an eloquent preacher, and his sermons and addresses have been much appreciated. He will welcome invitations to preach or lecture, and these can be addressed to him at the Institute.

Departmental Committee.

During the year under review His Majesty's Government appointed a Departmental Committee "to consider the present condition of the blind in the United Kingdom, and the means available for (a) their industrial and professional training, and (b) their assistance, and to make recommendations." The President of the Institute and Mr. H. C. Warrilow (a member of the Book Committee) were appointed members of this Committee.

International Conference on the Blind, London, 1914.

This important Conference which was attended by Delegates from 29 countries was held at Church House, Westminster, from 18th to 24th June, 1914. The Institute was represented by the President, Chairman, Chairman of the Book Committee, the Secretary-General, and Secretary for Dublin, all of whom took active part in the proceedings. The Secretary-General acted as Hon. Secretary of the Conference.

College of Teachers of the Blind.

The business connected with the carrying on of the work of the College of Teachers of the Blind continues to be conducted by the Institute, the Secretary-General being the Hon. Registrar of the College. The Council are happy to render this service to the College.

Obituary.

The Council much regret to record the death of Mrs. Guyot an active member of the Book Committee and the Institute's Hon. Secretary for Evesham and District.

They also mourn the loss of Sir Francis Campbell, Principal of the Royal Normal College for the Blind, who for many years was intimately associated with the work of the Institute.

Finance. The one outstanding feature of the Audited Statements of Account, which are appended to this Report, is the receipt of a net sum of £58,857 16*s.* 4*d.* by the President and Honorary Treasurer for the Building and Endowment Fund. The Council also acknowledge the generous apportionment to the Institute of £1,000 fully paid £1 shares in the Sir Alfred L. Jones Trust and Estate Company, Limited. This will be known as the Sir Alfred L. Jones Endowment Fund.

On the side of ordinary income the Annual Subscriptions show an increase of £77 and the Donations (including those received by the Collectors) £1,536. The Sale of Books and Apparatus also shows an increase of £519. On the Expenditure side there is an increase of £346 for paper, binding, materials, printing, etc., and of £1,000 under the head of Salaries and Wages. This last is largely due to the employment of an increased staff, especially of blind collectors. Relief of Necessitous Blind shows a new item of £1,278, while "postage and carriage" shows a normal increase.

Taken as a whole, the Accounts show a healthy condition of affairs and indicate general and great activities. The large accession of funds during 1914 must not, however, be taken to imply that the needs of the Institute are adequately met. The perusal of this Report will show what important advances the Institute is making and funds—large funds—will be needed if the work is to be carried on effectively. The Council ask for a continuance of the confidence and support of a generous public. With such encouragement they are determined to go forward until the pressing claims of the sightless have been adequately met.

Conclusion. In conclusion the Council desire to record their thankfulness to Almighty God for the full measure of success which has attended their efforts in the past, and they go forward with renewed zeal for the uplifting of those to whom so many of the physical joys and advantages of this life are denied.

The Secretary-General certifies that the Institute has upwards of 85,167 plates, which are used for producing the books in circulation and specified in the Institute's Catalogue. These are of the approximate value to the Institute of £6,695 19*s.* 0*d.*, but if sold as old metal on the 31st December, 1914, they would have realised £682 17*s.* 0*d.* They are not included in the above Balance Sheet.
